This paper reports on a two-and-a-half-year research study which investigated the nature and quality of these discourse episodes through analysing how teachers use talk in these whole class teaching episodes to develop and build on pupils' learning.

Gossip is the weapon of choice in the indirect relationship aggression that occurs among women. However, gossip can also be a positive force in the life of groups.

What are women really gossiping about? - BelfastTelegraph...

Language and Gender - Chris Kennedy

1) Men interrupt women more than vice versa. 2) Women(267,640),(732,696) are more communicative than men. 3) Men do not give verbal support to women. 4) Men curse more than women. 5) Women gossip more than men. 6) Women talk more with one another than men do. 7)

Encarta's World English Dictionary defines gossip as, "conversation about personal matters: conversation about the personal details of other people's lives, whether rumor or fact, especially when...

love to gossip with their colleagues.

The latest study refutes the widespread belief that women like to gossip. It turns out that men spend much more time on it than women do. One third of men spend an average of 76 minutes gossiping each day, whereas women only spend 52 minutes. Men are twice as likely to gossip as women and find it more socially acceptable.

MEANING-MAKING OF HEDGES IN THE GOSSIP COLUMN OF THE ...

Analysing Women's Substantive Representation: From ...

Why do women gossip more than men? A study claims to know ...

Women may be more likely than men to use gossiping and rumour-mongering as tactics to badmouth a potential mate she's competing for man's attention. Women also gossip more about other women's looks, whereas men talk about cues to resource holding (wealth) and the attractiveness of their competitors, said the study published in the peer-reviewed Psychological Science.

Why Do Girls Gossip? | Psychology Today

In fact, a 1993 observational study found that male participants spent 55% of conversation time and female participants spent 67% conversation time on “the discussion of socially relevant topics.”

Why Do Women Gossip? Here's What Science Says | Time

Women are socialized to be more sociable, to discuss achievements, career or otherwise, of their adversaries, while men were more inclined to talk about another woman's looks. Gossip is used by women more frequently because of its social value, particularly when it comes to acquiring new information about a competitor.

Women Spent Gossip Mostly To Win A Man's Attention, Study ...

...is a 1993 observational study found that men's participants spent 55% of conversation time and female participants spent 67% conversation time on “the discussion of socially relevant topics.”

Why do we gossip? Primarily because 1) We're fun and 2) Help us figure out what's going on inside each other's heads. Plus, according to a few recent studies, it's actually good for. Having...

Popular Gossiping Topics - Psychological Effects of Gossip ...

The study found that gossipers were concerned about women who are bad housekeepers, and women who are bad mothers, and women who are promiscuous. These things are all threats to each...

Why do women gossip more than men? A study claims to know ...

...to gossip, the degree that only women behave in a catty manner, and that only men are bad listeners. While the characters share a similar internal behavior regardless of gender, despite the amount of drama that stereotypic sex in the show, there's hardly any sort of showing.

How 'Gossip Girl' Is Feminist As Hell

If we look at the ratio between conversation topics and how often they are brought up in conversation, we find that both genders are more communicative than men. In fact, we do not give verbal recognition of the contributions in the conversation made by women. In fact, men more than women. Women gossip more than men. Men talk more with one another than men do. 7) Men spend more comfortably in public than women.

Language and Gender - Chris Kennedy

A recent study by the Harvard Women's Institute revealed that women — who spend on average five hours a day gossiping — talk first about shopping, food, sex, other people and other people's problems. Men gossip with their colleagues.

What are women really gossiping about? - BostonTelegraph

Gossip is the weapon of choice in the indirect relationship aggression that occurs among women. However, gossip can also be a positive force in the lives of groups. How "The Gossip" Became a Woman and How "Gossip" Became ...

This paper reports on a two-and-a-half-year research study which investigated the nature and quality of these discourse episodes through analysing how teachers use talk in these whole class teaching episodes to develop and build on pupils' learning.