Deaf Sentence by David Lodge
The English Reading Group

The subject of deafness and widespread reviews, David Lodge's fourteenth work of fiction displays the humor and shared observations that have made him a much-loved icon. Deaf Sentence tells the story of Desmond Bates, a recently retired linguistics professor in his mid-sixties, who is deaf and at loose ends in his personal life. Desmond inadvertently gets involved with a seemingly personable young American female student who seeks his support.

Deaf Sentence supplies the unusual sight of a senior British novelist bringing off the very difficult trick of a deaf narrator. The title Deaf Sentence is a brilliant pun -- the adjectives deaf and death -- when spoken sound so similar. Deaf Sentence could be interpreted as a death sentence because the fear of hearing loss means the most difficult sounds to identify. Constants are valued at a higher frequency than vowels.

Deaf Sentence is about a recently retired linguistics professor who is losing his hearing. While at a noisy party, Bates politely says yes to a question he can't quite hear.
