The Inter War Years 1919

The Interwar Years (1919-1938) With the end of World War I, the old international system was torn down, Europe was reorganized, and a new world was born. The European nations that had fought in the Great War emerged economically and socially crippled. Economic depression prevailed in Europe for much of the inter-war period, and debtor nations found it impossible to pay their debts without borrowing even more money, at higher rates, thus worsening the economy to an even greater degree.

There was an upsurge of industrial unrest despite government efforts to impose peace. In 1919 a six-week general strike paralyzed Winnipeg and sparked sympathetic strikes across Canada. The Winnipeg General Strike was eventually crushed by a federal government gripped by a hysterical fear of revolution. By 1921 the labour revolt had subsided, partly because of federal intervention and partly because of the onset of an economic downturn that brought increased unemployment and a virtual ...
